

YOUR NAME HERE

ASTROLOGICAL REPORT

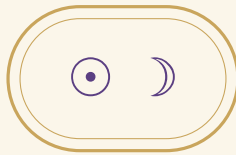

SUN · GEMINI

MOON · PISCES

RISING · AQUARIUS

YOUR CHART AT A GLANCE

 SUN Gemini	 MOON Pisces
 RISING Aquarius	 MERCURY Gemini
 VENUS Gemini	 MARS Pisces
 JUPITER Libra	 SATURN Cancer

CONTENTS

I. The Soul and the Mind	2
II. Gemini vs. Pisces	5
III. Mutable Nature	7
IV. The Heart	10
V. The Emotional Self	12
VI. Cancer in Saturn	14
VII. Libra in Jupiter	15

CHAPTER I

THE SOUL AND THE MIND

THE MAIN FEATURE OF this chart lies in the competing energy between Pisces and Gemini which creates a very unique individual. The profundity of Pisces starts making its way where it's often never found: in a Gemini. Geminis are not naturally sentimentalists, and may disregard ordinary human feelings where the Pisces energy that you possess forces you to consider them, and hold sentimental value dear to your heart. Unlike other Geminis, you have a passionate drive that is innate. Ultimately, there are two sides of you that are fundamentally competing: the emotional water-side containing Pisces and Cancer versus the intellectual air-side containing Gemini and Libra.

You appear to have a very stable identity and probably knew who you were at a very young age, and will not transform from her until you are very old. Your yin and yang energies are very balanced and you possess harmonized, albeit timid energy.

The Gemini energy which you possess is very well-spoken, curious, and mentally active. On your chart, you have Gemini in the sign of the Sun, Mercury, and Venus, which means this energy represents the core of your soul, your mind and your heart respectively. You are probably very apt to expressing your heart, explaining your likes and dislikes, and showing others who you are without even trying. Because you live in a mental world, your behaviour at times may seem silly to more "down-to-earth" associates.

The Gemini Mercury is a domicile sign which means your mind works overtime. The real intellectual strength for this sign resides in constant awareness, the ability to look two ways at once, both inwardly and outwardly. You also contain Jupiter in Libra, which is an especially good combination because this also allows you to make connections. All of your signs together indicate someone who loves information and learning, especially by having conversations. You are probably very talkative, versatile, and able to switch between topics, roles or moods quickly.

Combined with everything else in your chart, I am seeing the godmind of communication living inside of you. You have an incredible ability to see connections that others will not have seen. Additionally, you have a refined ability to emote. These abilities, to communicate, relate, and emote, all combine and add up to someone who is very well-suited to being an actress.

You are skilled at seeing multiple sides of a situation, and arguing from any angle is one of your greatest strengths. You could be a skillful debater and might be very well-suited for political endeavours. You are ideally suited to journalism because you can report or interpret quickly without concerning yourself with practical consequences, and have the knack of clarifying issues and stringing ideas together in natural sequences.

You do not like hard physical work or the seamy side of life. You are attracted to quasi-artistic occupations where you can demonstrate your talents for original ideas and invention. Music, drama, teaching, and writing also appeal, but sometimes you are hampered by a lack of formal education due to restlessness in your youth.

You can make an excellent linguist. Your superb sense of humor helps you to communicate ideas in pleasing form. Your mind is machinelike in its precision. You are well informed, ingenious, and resourceful. You are very seldom prejudiced and have a great many interests.

In manual occupations, you should shine where dexterity is required. You would make an able painter, stenographer, or dressmaker. You are fond of speculation, novelty, literature, and science. You may be attracted to the study of occult subjects with considerable success. You enjoy acquiring obscure knowledge.

Occupations not to be recommended would be ones that require extensive analytical skills or those that require you to invest your own money, such as an entrepreneur.

CHAPTER II

GEMINI VS. PISCES

ONE THING THAT IS hard to miss about this chart is that it is made up of almost entirely competing energies, which is a bit unusual, but not terrible. This is much better than if the chart were made up of almost entirely awkward or inconjunctive energies. Still, it's very important to understand these competing energies, how they are different, and how they interact.

Gemini is represented by air, the sky above, master of superficial thought, whereas Pisces is water, the ocean's deep, and its thoughts and feelings are very deep. These are the two energies that are competing inside of you. The war between Gemini and Pisces which lives inside you is essentially intellect versus intuition.

Gemini sees things in a super-rational way and is convinced that most problems can be sorted out intellectually, while Pisces sees things in an transcendental way that may not seem rational (e.g., spiritual experiences) and is convinced most problems can be sorted out intuitively. For Pisces, a picture is worth a thousand words, while Gemini would rather say a thousand words. For Pisces, the rule is "show, don't tell," whereas for Gemini, the rule is "tell." Gemini has almost a trickster nature, someone who might be mischievous, while Pisces is honest and devout. Gemini persuades by explanation while Pisces persuades by evocation. Gemini becomes detached where Pisces becomes immersed. Gemini is very curious while Pisces is more cautious. You are inherently a curious person but caution brings you the most emotional security.

The competition between these two energies might cause you to become subconsciously confused, because your mind is always thinking by the sheer power of logic while you are innately driven to act intuitively. Your mind and body need to work together so you are inevitably forced to make a choice between the two.

The biggest recommendation to be made would be to build on this intuition. The Pisces Moon requires meditation, whether that be by yoga, devout prayer, reading the Bible, or other spiritual practices such as trataka, or mirror meditation. It might be worth it to note that Pisces and Gemini also compete spiritually, as Pisces strongly represents the Biblical stories told about Jesus Christ (e.g., feeding the multitude with two fish, or Christ starting his ministry with two fisherman) while Gemini strongly represents the Hermetic principles of Mercury relating to magic and the occult. No matter the case, building intuition should be an important goal for someone with this astrological makeup.

Pisces is a born empath while Gemini is not. Both are defined by a strong inner voice, only Pisces' inner voice is like a father speaking to a son, or a conscience, while Gemini is represented by twin brothers. This aspect of Gemini is what gives it such an incredible thinking ability... The greatest tool in this world is another person's mind, something to bounce ideas off and get feedback, to mesh ideas, etc. It's almost as if Gemini has this all by itself because its mind is like two people talking to each other and bouncing ideas back and forth until it comes up with something great.

Combined with Pisces, there is a great propensity for isolation to watch out for. Especially with a chart like this which is all water and air, it's so important to connect with others and this truly is the only way for you to succeed. You need that earth energy to give your water to and make something grow to fruition; you need fire energy or else Gemini will talk to itself until it goes crazy.

CHAPTER III

♊♍♎♏

MUTABLE NATURE

ASTROLOGICAL FORCES MAKE UP three main types of energy: Cardinal, fixed, and mutable energy which, in simplest terms, represent beginning, middle and end respectively. You have Cardinal energies in your social planets, which means you have a lot of starting energy there and are probably able to start relationships or projects easily. But even more so, your chart is almost entirely made up of mutable energies.

The role of the mutable signs is ultimately edification. Because you have so much mutable energy, this chart represents someone very capable of taking an almost-finished work and turning it into a masterpiece through skillful editing, polish and clarification of ideas. If someone else comes up with an idea, a mutable sign like Gemini will be better able to communicate that idea. You can be very adaptable, flexible and resourceful.

Where this chart thrives on cardinal and mutable energies, it unfortunately lacks fixed energy which is often required to power through things like working on a task for a long period of time. This chart seems to represent someone who is very distractible due to the nature of Gemini, and very prone to daydreaming due to the nature of the Pisces Moon.

The four mutable signs are: Pisces, Virgo, Sagittarius and Gemini.

Pisces and Sagittarius are ruled by Jupiter and team up with a mercurial counterpart: Pisces matches with Virgo and Sagittarius matches with Gemini. Virgo understands things best through data and numbers while Gemini understands things best through words and explanations, but in your chart, you don't have the analytical Virgo on your side. What you have instead is something unique, which is Pisces intuition combined with the verbose Gemini. This might indicate someone who is strongly gifted, since most people with Mercury in Gemini are not intuitive or instinctive, but you actually are. These two energies combined are the sign of someone with an amazing ability to come up with ideas or theories, and then prove or communicate their ideas after the fact.

On the flip side, these contradictory placements in your chart can also create a lot of problems in your relationships, or cause them to all be controversial mixed bags of positive and negative aspects. It might be rather difficult to find someone you truly connect with on all fronts or find “the perfect relationship.” There will always be great hurdles to overcome.

You will feel most emotionally secure with earth signs (especially Virgo) but because you are an Aquarius Rising with a Gemini’s intellect, Virgo will have issues with the way you speak and the way you think, and also the way you present yourself, because it can’t understand Aquarius. Virgo will probably judge you constantly and create arguments because of this.

Capricorn and Taurus are other earth signs that may be problematic for you, since Capricorn tends to be unable to communicate well with Gemini, and Taurus might not like the way you socialize or seek growth (due to the nature of Libra Jupiter). Taurus will also try to compete with you.

In the positive aspect, Virgos, Capricorns and Tauruses will love your emotional expressions, your drive, your disciplinary style, and will relate to you deeply on subjects relating to femininity and motherhood. These can make excellent co-parents, and having fun recreationally with these signs should be easy.

You communicate best with fire signs such as a Sagittarius, Leo and Aries, and these are the signs that mesh best with your core personality. However, you will have equally controversial relationships with these because Leo will probably act too egotistical for your liking, Sagittarius will be overly blunt and may hurt you emotionally, and Aries should make you feel equally insecure. If you can manage to build a thick enough skin, a relationship with a fire sign could be very fulfilling.

In all honesty, your perfect match might be someone with as many competing energies as you, only, they must be in the spheres of fire and earth rather than air and water. This would be someone who is already burning up inside without you, and needs you to cool them down or air them out. The phrase “I can fix him” applies literally in this circumstance.

An Aries with earth signs might be your best bet because you have no inconjunctive placements that would make things awkward with an Aries. Communications should flow freely and getting to know each other would be a breeze. This also applies to other Geminis, which you are also compatible with.

CHAPTER IV

THE HEART

THE GEMINI IS REPRESENTED by The Lovers card in the Tarot, so themes of attraction, love, and beauty are quite common. Another account speaks of marriage frustrated and contrarities of all kind.

This feels almost contradictory as the Gemini's heart is known to play tricks on others. The earthy, emotional Venus is at a disadvantage in the airy, heady, intellectual atmosphere of Gemini. Here she loses much of her physical warmth and devotional power, which unfortunately Pisces can't help in this case.

You are a mental lover. You engage in affairs for the idea of love and are frequently disappointed. You dream up images and situations that people cannot measure up to and circumstances will not allow. You idealize your attractions, then work yourself into a mental state of desire that is electrifying, but ultimately short-lived.

Venus in Gemini individuals typically cannot maintain a passionate relationship for long. Your love affairs have to be continually revitalized by the power of your imagination, for your energy is of restless, nervous origin and lives off the conflict and contrast of ideas.

You understand love. You can write about it, and talk about it with extraordinary insight. But alas, when it comes your turn, you experience a fleeting, superficial sensation. At times, you are even intensely jealous. But always it is an attachment of the mind, and it wanes as soon as you know the person sufficiently or a substitute new source of knowledge is available.

You enjoy having admirers and you usually manage to attract quite a few at a time. You can debate just about any subject. Venus gives you the artistic verve and panache to impress the most sophisticated audiences. She refines your mind, makes it lyrical, poetic, and imaginative.

When you think about married life, you're not really thinking about all of its obligations, otherwise you wouldn't feel interested. If you do marry, you often marry twice. Venus-in-Gemini people love to have a harem of vivacious and intelligent men or women whom they can visit or call up at any hour of the day or night.

CHAPTER V

THE EMOTIONAL SELF

THE EMOTIONS CAN FEEL erratic at times due to the Pisces Moon's relationship with other signs in the chart. You may feel unstable, overwhelmed or insecure when things are too aggressive. The strong emotional nature of Pisces doesn't sit well with Gemini who is intrinsically seeking rationality.

This sign represents someone who is highly sensitive, empathetic and imaginative. There is a constant need for emotional flow, creativity, and spiritual or emotional meaning. You can escape into fantasy or art, such as music, film, poetry, and anything emotionally evocative. It may also indicate someone who is strongly avoidant if they sense negative energy.

The Pisces Moon is sleepy and it absorbs other people's moods like a sponge. It can also indicate a seemingly psychic intuition that borders on the supernatural. You have a rich inner world of dreams, symbols, and subtle impressions.

Your Pisces Mars represents life satisfaction and a perfected success. Use this power wisely, because whatever you set your mind to will come true in the end. This has been said even for evil individuals who had Mars in Pisces, so understand that the gift is indiscriminate; use it for good. The outcome is contentment, repose of the entire heart, the perfection of your state and the perfection of human love and friendship. There is some disappointment in the matter, but satisfaction is assured nonetheless.

When someone utters the phrase, “Follow your dreams,” they are speaking about Mars in Pisces, as you are literally driven towards dreams and transcendence. This drive causes you to be inherently creative or artistic. You are driven towards connection, closure, mercy and surrender. You are driven towards healing.

Or perhaps, on the flip side, since there is so much friction between your dialectical planets, i.e., the Sun and the Moon, Mars and Venus, Jupiter and Saturn, you feel unaware of where you are going due to the incompatibility between your exceedingly transcendent drive and your massively intellectual ego. The Gemini may not know what to do with all of these feelings; the body feels as though it’s competing with the heart. This can cause random outbursts of aggression that you didn’t realize you had inside you.

CHAPTER VI

CANCER IN SATURN

CANCER IS IN ITS detriment while in Saturn; it feels like it should be somewhere else. This is where Cancer is almost at its weakest. Its discipline, morality, and persistence are largely dissolved, like bread soaked in water. This is because Cancer is a very emotional sign that thrives on luxury and indulgence where Saturn is all about discipline. Your discipline is based on emotion, or is emotional in nature, which could be problematic.

Saturn is also the planet of pressure and insecurity while Cancer represents motherhood, the womb, and children, which may cause you to feel more pressure about these subjects... In fact, you are probably an inveterate worrier.

But there remains a possibility of outstanding accomplishment. When Saturn-in-Cancer people apply themselves to a job, whether it be a profession, an artistic venture, or a business pursuit, they rally the best of both the Saturn and Cancer qualities, with extraordinary results. But when the work is over, they sink back into inertia, laziness, or dissipation. This may also be brought on in conjunction with the Pisces Moon, but is strongly in competition with Gemini and Libra influences.

This is the nature of the war we opened with: the war between the emotional side and the intellectual self. The sun versus the moon, the masculine versus the feminine, the light versus the dark. You are like an eclipse. Your yin and yang are quite balanced yes, but they are trying to overpower each other like two arm wrestlers who are equally matched.

CHAPTER VII

LIBRA IN JUPITER

YOU HAVE THE POWER to sublimate through philosophy and the compensation of your beliefs; and your philosophy and beliefs are largely relatable. Libra in Jupiter represents “Rest from Strife” or a truce. It indicates vigilance, retreat, and wise administration.

Jupiter represents growth and expansion and Libra is the sign of relations, so one of the best ways for you to seek expansion would be to use these relational abilities, i.e., relating things together and relating to others. Using relationships as a means for expansion is especially important for you and crucial for you to succeed because you are lacking the earth and fire elements needed to accompany your core Pisces-Gemini placements and social Libra-Cancer placements. You need other people in your cabinet to truly thrive.

This is the sign of someone who is highly ethical, objective, and not lacking in humility. You are peaceful, harmonious, unionizing, and very loving indeed. Jupiter in Libra will also cause you to see more good than evil in everyone else, and to sincerely try to promote peace wherever you go.

Not unlike the way your Gemini Sun and Pisces Moon compete with one another, Libra Jupiter competes with Saturn in Cancer. Cancer is a very emotional family-driven sign while Libra can sometimes represent something anti-family. In your case, you should certainly fly the coop if you want to secure your expansion. You need to circulate, to travel, to exchange ideas. A change of environment can set you off in a totally new direction.

This combination confers a breadth of vision that exceeds the limited ego and embraces the aspirations of humanity as a whole. As a pure reflection of Jupiter in Libra, you would rather serve than be served, not in menial ways, mind you, for it is not in physical effort that your gifts and abilities lie. You are an intellectual and aesthetic being! You possess a rare balance of most that is refined or admirable in a woman. You embody the spirit of fair play. Being just, you can judge.

Now, everyone with Jupiter in Libra cannot be a saint or sit on the Supreme Court. But the basic principle holds true and expresses itself through the individual irrespective of how ordinary your life may be.

Saturn depressed your child-self of many comforts and normal enjoyments. Or it's denying you now. But Libra Jupiter is actively trying to save you.

In stellar-religious terms, Jupiter historically represented god while Saturn represented the devil since Saturn controls our fears, insecurities, and is the place we feel the most pressure. In your chart, we see a battle between Jupiter and Saturn as though the devil and god were raging inside of you. The harmonious Libra Jupiter faces off against Cancer Saturn, the dark mother per se, and there is nothing to say in your chart who will overpower who.

The good news is, you are entirely in charge of how your own energies are manifested.

The rest is up to you... ♡

